SCCA® RoadRally Co-Hosting Guidelines

The prohibition against co-sanctioning and/or co-sponsoring events by SCCA® shall not prevent cooperation by SCCA® Regions with other organizations provided that the events are controlled by the sanctioning Region and are conducted in accordance with SCCA® rules and regulations pertaining to the event.

SCCA® RoadRallies are typically organized by an SCCA® Region and some of its members. Another option is for an SCCA® Region to co-host a RoadRally in conjunction with another club or organization.

The following rules should be followed for co-hosted RoadRallies.

1. The SCCA® Region's Leadership should approve all co-hosting arrangements, including financial arrangements, prior to submission of the sanction application.
2. The SCCA® Region must submit the sanction application to the National Office. The other club/organization is named as an additional insured on the sanction application. The Region's RE, or their approved agent, must still approve and sign the sanction application.
3. The RoadRally must conform to all pertinent SCCA® rules and regulations, including the requirement for a licensed Safety Steward precheck. These are outlined in Appendix A – Rally Requirements by Type, in the SCCA® RoadRally Rule Book (RRR). Charity, Social, Multi-day and Trek events must conform with minimum standards as outlined for Regional RoadRallies.

The following guidelines are suggested for co-hosted RoadRallies.

1. Financial arrangements such as revenue sharing, expense sharing, and profit/loss sharing should be discussed and decided on in advance of the event. It is entirely up to the individual Region as approved by the Region's Leadership to decide how to handle the financial aspects of the event with the co-hosting club/organization.
2. Publicity for the RoadRally should indicate all co-hosting clubs/organizations involvement, and any event sponsors as appropriate
